

PERFECT FOR AUTUMN

– The Nordic kitchen series is now being extended with three new jugs

Autumn is the time of year for jugs of freshly brewed coffee and tea, a real fire and hygge indoors, away from the wind and rain. And it's a perfect time for presenting three new products from Eva Solo – a cafetière, an electric kettle and a vacuum jug. The three pots are new additions to the Nordic kitchen series, inspired by Scandinavian design traditions, which is most evident in the elegant oak handles. Thanks to their striking design, the pots can be left out in the kitchen and even on the coffee or dining table.

Nordic kitchen thermo cafetière

The cafetière is made of brushed stainless steel with an oak handle. The cafetière is also a vacuum jug, making it easy to serve the coffee and keep it warm. What you do: Spoon freshly ground coffee beans into the jug and add boiling water. Stir, and place the plunger in the jug. Allow the coffee to brew for approx. 4 minutes before pressing down the plunger. The coffee is now ready to serve. The plunger is dishwasher-safe, but the jug must be washed by hand because of its oak handle.

Nordic kitchen electric kettle

The main source of inspiration for the Nordic kitchen series is the unspoilt Nordic countryside, which is evident from the elegant electric kettle in brushed stainless steel with an oak handle. The electric kettle rotates 360°, and is cable-free to facilitate filling and pouring. The drip-free pouring spout ensures that you can pour without spilling a drop. The kettle is filled by holding it up to the tap without having to remove the lid, which can stay in place when filling or pouring. The kettle features an easy-to-read indicator gauge, a concealed heating element and automatic switch-off when the water starts to boil.
