A union of modern silhouettes and nostalgic references

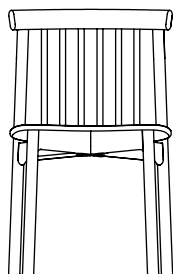

Named after the defining wooden dowels in its design, Pind, the Danish word for wooden stick, encapsulates the spirit of iconic Shaker chairs from 19th-century America. Radiating timeless elegance, this furniture style is renowned for its slender and refined dowels delicately adorning the chair's backrest. With a clean and contemporary expression, Pind pays homage to the timeless artistry of traditional craftsmanship, bringing the classic wooden chair into the present. Designer Simon Legald elaborates, "The Pind chair collection is a study in seamlessly merging a classic chair with a contemporary design that meets the demands of the modern-day consumer."
